Ticket and Delegates Named by Republicans

Suiter of Marlborough Wins Contest in Republican County Convention for Designation for Sheriff—Wicks Named for Senator—Pratt for Congressman, Davis for Assemblyman, Kaufman for Surrogate, Sagendorf for Superintendent of Poor, Humiston for Coroner Also Named.

The delegates attending the Republican county convention at the Auditorium theatre Friday afternoon made the following recommendations for nominations in the September primary election.

For Congressman—Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland.
For State Senator—Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston.
For Assemblyman—Millard Davis of Kerhonkson.

For Surrogate—George F. Kaufman of Saugerties.
For Sheriff—George Suiter of Marlborough.
For County Superintendent of the poor—Lester L. Sagendorf of Woodstock.

For Coroner—Howard Humiston of Kerhonkson.
For members of the Republican state committee—Philip Elting and Dr. Mary Gage Day of Kingston.

The convention also selected delegates and alternates to the Republican state convention and the judicial district convention.

Walton Names Harcourt.

When the convention re-assembled after the noon recess, the designation of candidates was taken up.

Former Senator Charles W. Walton in this place Congressman Pratt in nomination. Senator Walton referred to the fact which had been mentioned by ex-mayor Canfield at the morning session of the convention, that Congressman Pratt always was "on the job."

In a legislative body, he said, a man was invaluable to his constituents and his district, and nobody ever had to wait for Mr. Pratt to do anything for them, for they found him all ready and anxious to do what the people wanted.

Senator Walton referred to Congressman Pratt's work as a member of the important committee on agriculture, which had been in almost continuous session holding hearings and considerable legislation, and he was the only representative of New York state on that committee.

Thoroughly familiar with business and agricultural conditions, possessing the valuable asset of extensive personal business experience, Mr. Pratt had measured up to high standards which this district required of its representative and his re-nomination in answer to public demand for its representative and his re-nomination by an overwhelming majority.

On motion, the secretary was directed to cast the unanimous ballot of the convention for Congressman Pratt.

Harcourt Nominates Wicks.

Harry H. Flemming of the Eighth ward placed Arthur H. Wicks of this city in nomination for the office of state senator. In nominating Mr. Wicks, Mr. Flemming referred to the fact that for a period of years this senatorial district had been very ably represented in the state senate by a member of the legal profession. In fact, he said, the senate body contained a great many lawyers which was in itself a wise thing.

However, he said, we not only need lawyers in our legislative bodies but we need men of sound business judgment and training. The candidate he desired to present to the convention for its consideration was a man who had been trained as a civil engineer, and had practiced his profession very successfully. Later he moved to Kingston and purchased one of the leading business enterprises of the city which he has carried on in a very successful and satisfactory manner. This man has also been very active in every movement which has been for the best interests of the entire community. Furthermore, in taking an active part in these movements he has generally assumed a position of leadership.

In view of these facts Mr. Flemming thought that the convention would make a very wise choice if it would recommend to the Republican county of this senatorial district the name of Arthur H. Wicks.

The secretary was instructed to read the unanimous ballot of the convention for Mr. Wicks.

Mr. Flemming and Mrs. Violeta Pablos of New Paltz were appointed to escort Mr. Wicks to the platform. Mr. Wicks said he was deeply appreciative of the honor and thanked the delegation heartily for it. He was not an orator but simply a plain business man and if elected would try to conduct things as his predecessors had done, in a businesslike manner.

Next Congressman Harcourt.

Dr. Raymond S. Canfield offered a resolution naming the following delegates and alternates to attend the Republican State Convention at Madison Square Garden, New York:

Two State Committees.
Chairman Elting announced the receipt of action of the Republican state committee by which two members of the committee will be selected by each assembly district, one of whom shall be a woman. On motion of S. B. Schwarzwald of Shandaken, Philip Elting and Dr. Mary Gage Day were recommended for election as members of the state committee.

Vanderlin Praises Kaufman.

The Hon. John N. Vanderlin of New Paltz nominated Surrogate George F. Kaufman, and said he considered it a great honor to do so with the approval of the Saugerties delegates. Surrogate Kaufman had shown the qualities of a good man. His own townspeople knew of those qualities because they met him from day to day and had means of judging his daily acts. What they thought of him was shown when he received 2,200 of the 2,300 votes cast in the town. That bespoke neighbors' confidence in his honesty, ability, and integrity.

After five and a half years the people of the county knew Surrogate Kaufman and were satisfied with him. Personally, said Mr. Vanderlin, he had practiced in surrogate's court for nearly half a century and among the surrogates had been Peter Cantline, Alton B. Parker, Oliver P. Carpenter and Charles Davis. He knew them all and without fear of contradiction he could say Surrogate Kaufman was one of the best surrogates in the time he had practiced in court. He made this statement from his own knowledge and his own practice.

The surrogate, said Mr. Vanderlin, must decide as many intricate problems as come before any court and in five and one-half years Surrogate Kaufman had decided many such cases and not one of his decisions had been reversed. None of his predecessors could have done better.

The surrogate's court was a friendly one and the surrogate should be friendly with all the people. It is the people and not the lawyers who want to talk with the surrogate and Mr. Kaufman had met all kinds of people and won the esteem of all. Where disputes had come before him he had used his best efforts to effect a settlement in families so as to avoid litigation and save expense which was a good quality in a surrogate. It had been advocated in many places that where a judicial officer was questioned and performed his duties well, he was entitled to re-nomination, and in this instance the convention would do well to follow that precedent.

The nomination was seconded by Dr. Raymond S. Canfield.

New York Bus Hits Meat Truck

Charles Meyers, Driver of Thompson Truck, Slightly Hurt When Truck Collides With the New York Bus.

This morning about 8 o'clock one of the large Pierce Arrow buses that runs from the Governor Clinton Hotel to the Roosevelt Hotel in New York city hit and turned over the large Graham truck owned by Thompson's packing house.

The bus which is owned by the Van Gohs Brothers, driven by Paul E. Sweeney of Saugerties, was on its way to New York and was running west on Abel street near the Lenahan Boat Yard. The Thompson truck was being driven by Charles Meyers with whom Fred Stouder, an employee of the firm, was riding.

The truck was loaded with hams and was crossing Abel street on its way up Ravine street.

The bus struck the truck in the rear and turned it over, and its contents were deposited in the street. The bus driver stopped a few feet from the scene to see if anyone was injured severely and to make a report of the accident. The bus then proceeded on its trip to New York with a slightly damaged bumper and scratched fender.

The truck had a small hole put in the side board near the rear end and the top was completely smashed. One side window in the truck was the only glass that was broken.

Charles Meyers, the driver of the truck received a laceration on his left arm and neck. He was also shaken up considerably from the shock. He was attended by Doctor Jacobson who brought him to the Kingston City Hospital. After receiving medical treatment Meyers returned to his home.

Miss Ederle Tells About Record Swim

American Girl Who Swam English Channel in Fourteen Hours and Twenty-five Minutes, Breaking All Records, Tells About Her Trip.

By Gertrude Ederle.

Dover, England, Aug. 7.—It seemed like ages and ages and then all of a sudden I seemed to wake up and found myself within a few feet of the beach.

It seems like a dream now. I knew I was right a year ago when I said I would swim the English Channel.

The great point in my swimming if at all was to show that a girl could do it and that an American girl could do it and that I was the American girl.

It all seems very far away now. I went to sleep night before last in my hotel in France and I woke up this morning in Dover, and what happened in between seems unreal.

It was worth doing, just to see how pleased papa is. He promised me a motor-car if I did it and now I am going to have it.

I got tired soon after the start but somehow it wore off in mid-channel. They tell me I did the first twelve miles at the rate of two miles an hour.

I felt my worst when I got within sight of England. It was a great encouragement at first but it soon became discouraging because it didn't seem to get any nearer. That was bad for me so I didn't look any more but I just kept on swimming.

Once when I was going slowly Burgess and papa came out and told me to stop swimming on account of the storm. I said, "I am not coming out until I am fetched out and you just try to fetch me out."

It seemed most difficult when I got close to Dover. The tide suddenly changed and a strong current swept me towards Deal. I felt that the sea was pulling me away from England. I thought I had better not look any more but had better go on swimming as long as I could keep alive.

Then it got dark and the sea seemed a lot more comfortable. By that time the tide, vaseline and oil had pretty nearly all come off and I was beginning to feel cold. It seemed ages and ages and then all of a sudden I seemed to wake up with a glow of light and find myself within a few feet of the beach with people dancing before bonfires and cheering. The tug played "Let me call you sweetheart."

I went ashore and here I am. Look at papa, how pleased he is, and I am going to get that motor-car and I have proved that a girl, an American girl, can swim the channel.

Will Try to Swim The Irish Sea

Lynn, Mass., Aug. 7.—Looking for greater seas to conquer, Henry Sullivan of Lowell, who in 1923 swam the English Channel from Dover admiralty pier to Cape Gris Nez, a distance of 45 miles, in 27 hours and 23 minutes, was training at Lynn beach today for an attempt to swim the eighty mile stretch of the Irish Sea from England to Ireland.

His tentative schedule calls for two miles an hour. The attempt may be made next summer.

Sullivan stated that "Trude" Ederle's swim of the channel was "a wonderful swim." Sullivan admitted he was wrong when he said the channel couldn't be conquered by a woman.

Woman Plunges Into Niagara

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7.—An unidentified woman leaped to her death into the Niagara river from the upper deck of the ferry-boat Jamaica at an early hour today when the boat was in mid-river on its way from Buffalo to Fort Erie. No clue has been found to the suicide's identity.

She was described as about forty years old and wearing a black dress and a black hat with red pom-pom. Her leap was witnessed by only Mrs. Florence Waters, the juror's daughter. Miss Waters said she noticed the woman leaning the deck nervously for some time and then suddenly jumping for the rail and plunging into the water.

How It Was Done.

$20,000 Fine.

Waggon, Pa., Aug. 7.—Fire caused by a stroke of lightning which ripped the bottom out of a benzine tank at the Waggon refinery of the National Oil Company here destroyed the contents of eight other tanks before flames were extinguished by volunteers. Estimated damage was $20,000.

Poison Liquor Suspects Held

State Trooper Arrests Two Alleged Members of "Poison Liquor" Ring—Both Held in $25,000 Bail.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Two alleged members of the "poison liquor" ring, Thomas Argo, 29, and Stephen Garci, 32, both of Buffalo, were locked up here today when they were unable to furnish $25,000 bail.

The men were arrested in Lockport and ten gallons of wood alcohol of the same grade that caused 16 deaths on the Niagara frontier seized.

The arrests were made by Corporal Early F. Foley, a State Trooper, when he stopped a coupe in which the two were riding.

The liquor in gallon cans was taken to a Lockport chemist, where it was analyzed as containing 50 per cent of wood alcohol. The prisoners refused to tell where the liquor was secured. They claimed that the liquor was being taken to Olgott Beach with the intention of serving it tonight at a party to which 40 guests had been invited.

Rescuers Try to Reach Miners

Faint Hope Held Out That Five Miners, Entombed Since Thursday, Are Still Alive

The miners were trapped at 10 o'clock Thursday night by a "slide" of mud and rock and no communication has been had with them since that time.

Words of Praise For Coolidge

Resolutions Adopted by Republicans of Ulster County Pledge Support of President and His Policies—Canfield Praises Wadsworth and Pratt.

President Coolidge and his administration were pledged support of the Republicans of Ulster county in resolutions unanimously and enthusiastically adopted by the delegates attending the Republican county convention on Friday.

The resolutions, which were offered by ex-mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr., of this city, were as follows:

Our Nation has been privileged during the past three years to have the leadership of an able and courageous President. His faithful and honest efforts for reduction of public expenditures, supported by a Republican Congress, has established the application of methods of economy in government and in large measure has lessened the tax burden, which accomplishments are largely responsible for the prosperity that has generally prevailed throughout the country. Calvin Coolidge has raised the tone of public life and has commanded the respect of the people.

During the past year much good federal legislation has been enacted and much bad legislation prevented. An outstanding achievement was the enactment of the tax reduction bill saving $385,000,000 annually to the taxpayers and releasing 220,000 income taxpayers from the tax rolls. The funding of foreign debts contracted during the war assuring repayments to the United States of between seven and eleven billions of dollars was another notable accomplishment. The adjustment of the World Court, the adjustment of other international problems, the Civil Aviation Act providing for the expansion and development of aviation facilities in Army, Navy and Marine Corps upon a systematic and proper co-ordinating basis, the enactment of the railroad labor bill providing for a Mediation Railroad Board to adjust disputes between railroad employees and railroad executives, stamp the activities of the federal administration and the present Republican Congress in an affirmative and favorable manner.

Important and often perplexing questions, such as taxation, tariff, railroads, shipping, foreign affairs, immigration, farm relief and banking are ever before the country for solution. The Republican party, devoted to the principles of republicanism, has ever been loyal in support to policies which seek to treat these subjects in a fair and intelligent manner for the proper progress of government.

Resolved, that the delegates here assembled, at the annual convention of the Republicans of Ulster County, do hereby give approval to the governmental policies of President Coolidge, and we give expression of our admiration to the high characteristics of statesmanship exhibited by him, and give assurance that we will exert our best efforts to bring forth a united and strengthened Republican party that will loyally support our President and staunchly support his plans to translate such Republican policies into action for the advancement and prosperity of our Country and the welfare of the people.

In support of his resolutions, Mr. Canfield said it had been his good fortune to be in Washington for the past year and he had been in almost daily touch with Congress. One thing he noticed particularly was that the congressman from this district was "always on the job." The record shows that 13 million words were uttered by congressmen in the last session of Congress. He did not know how many words of Congressman Pratt were included in that record, but he knew from experience that Mr. Pratt was a worker and accomplished results.

As New York's only member of the important committee on agriculture, Mr. Pratt was on duty early in the morning each day, for the committee was in session almost continuously.

Mr. Canfield said he had also come in contact with Senator Wadsworth, who was recognized as one of the half dozen senators who were men of sound capacity and sound judgment. No matter how much he might differ with the senator on some subjects, he wanted to testify to his great capacity for work, and that he had labored zealously for the great Empire State and the best interests of the nation, and in him President Coolidge had an able advocate.

A New Coolidge Story.

Mr. Canfield said there were many stories regarding President Coolidge, one of which illustrated one of his characteristic traits. When news papers correspondents sought to interview the President about August Hughes's criticism of George Washington, the President simply motioned at the window toward the Washington Monument and said: "The Washington Monument still stands."

It was because President Coolidge was a man of action rather than words that the entire country felt safe with him in the White House.

Say That Revolt Brews in Mexico

Reports Received by Catholic Episcopate Indicate That Posing Resistance to Religious Regulations Is Changing to Active Resistance.

Mexico City, Aug. 7.—Passive resistance to the Mexican government's religious regulations has suddenly changed to active resistance and serious disorders are reported to be in progress in a number of provincial centers.

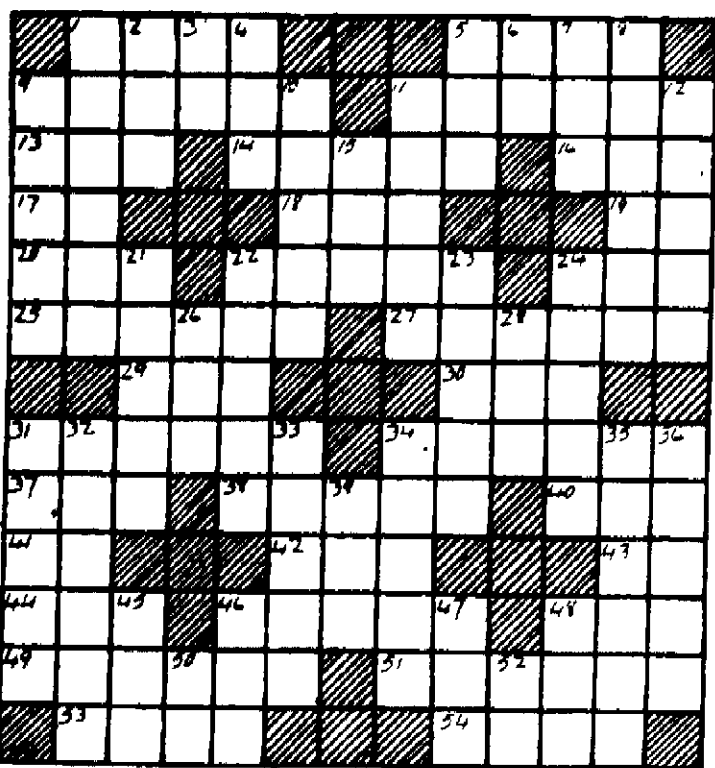

Reports received today by the Catholic Episcopate indicate the troublesome conditions in Guadalupe and in Zacatecas.

Following the report of the capture of the Virgin of Guadalupe at Guadalupe, following a stiff battle, there came incomplete reports of further fighting.

In Zacatecas Catholic worshippers are reported to have mobilized to defend their churches by force. Catholic officials declared that the disorders are not part of any plan of rebellion, and that if the troops withdrew undoubtedly the mobs of worshippers would withdraw also.

Scientists Working Out Gigantic Jig-Saw Puzzle in the Southwest.

Washington.—Scientists are working out a gigantic jig-saw puzzle in the Southwest, first searching over hundreds of square miles of territory for the pieces that nature has hidden through the centuries.

The story of this fascinating "game" is wrapped up in an announcement just made by the National Geographic society that its research committee has made an additional grant of funds to continue this summer the "Beam Expedition" work under the leadership of Dr. A. E. Douglas of Steward observatory, University of Arizona.

Ancient Apartment Houses.

"No one knows the age of the interesting communal dwellings, America's first 'apartment houses,' that have been unearthed in New Mexico," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society. "The largest of these, Pueblo Bonito, in Chaco canyon, has been intensively studied by National Geographic society expeditions during the past six years. Much new information has been gathered in regard to these early Americans from the examples disclosed of their masonry, pottery, baskets and culture, for they had no calendar. Now this secret seems likely to be found out from the examination of what laymen might consider prosaic old wooden beams that supported the flat roofs of the Bonitos."

"Doctor Douglas found some years ago that trees in growing not only leave a ring for each year, but that often, the character of the ring denotes the particular year in which it grew. That is, in an unusually moist season an especially wide or well-marked ring will be left in all the trees of the region subjected to the unusual conditions. If a living tree four hundred years old is cut and a recent characteristic ring identified, other outstanding rings made in the tree's youth can be dated centuries ago. These characteristic marks may be found, in turn, among the most recent rings of an ancient log preserved in a sandbank, and so nature's calendar may be followed back still farther."

Scientists Hunt Old Wood.
"Since the working out of this method the scientists of the National Geographic society's Beam expedition have been scouring the Southwest for specimens of ancient wood. Some have been discovered in the form of old tree stumps covered centuries ago by the sand and clay washed by some extraordinary storm. Others have been found in Indian pueblos, still in use; and still others in the ruins of ancient structures.

"In every case cross-sections have been prepared and microscopic studies made. Many of the specimens, of course, have been found to cover approximately the same period of time; but now and then a lucky find has pushed the earliest known date line of the United States a few decades or generations farther back.
"Science has not completed this chronological puzzle, but working from both ends it has fitted place after piece into place, steadily narrowing the gap of the unknown. It is hoped that before long a trustworthy estimate can be made of the ruins, so fitting America's early civilization into its proper relation to that of the Old world."

"Nicky," Polar Mascot,
Survives Lost Master

New Philadelphia, Ohio.—With a record behind her that would discourage any conscientious mascot, Nickarova, a cat, survivor of two tragic expeditions, is the house guest of David Maurer, father of Fred Maurer, who was lost in a dash to reach help when his party, the second Wrangell island expedition, was stranded in the Arctic in 1923.

She was mascot on the ill-fated Karluk, which was wrecked in an ice-pack in Camden bay in 1913. She was rescued from the Karluk by a sailor, and taken by Maurer on the flight across the dreary snowfields to Wrangell island in a fur bag on his dog sled.

Nine years later at the time of the second Wrangell island expedition, after Maurer was given up for dead, Nicky was brought back to her master's home here.

Alimony Thief's Suicide
Laid to Red-Haired Girl

Two Rivers, Wis.—A red-haired girl set the stage for the final act in the muddled life of John Waleah, who crawled into the main street here, asked for a drink and toppled over, dead.

Accused of robbing his wife of $55 alimony money, which she expected to use for her brood of seven children, Waleah, officers said, went to the roadhouse near here where he met a red-headed girl who robbed him. Making his way back to the city, Waleah sought seclusion in a barn just off the main street.

Somewhere he procured a razor and with blood dripping from gashes from his wrists, he crawled to the street. A passerby brought him a drink of water and he fell dead as he drank.

Life on Other Planets

The question as to whether there is life on Venus or not cannot be answered definitely. Dr. C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian institution says that it seems more probable that life corresponding to life on the earth exists on Venus than on Mars. The conditions on Venus are similar to those on earth, while Mars probably differs in many ways.

Support Coolidge, Urges Bouton

Senator Bouton says President's Policy of Economy May Be Upset in Senate Unless Republicans Are Supported—Compares Smith Policies and Says Governor Can Be Beaten.

Senator Bouton, who has demanded a renomination by the Republicans of the Twenty-ninth senatorial district, made an interesting analysis of political conditions in his address before the delegates attending the Republican county convention at the Auditorium theatre on Friday.

Four years ago, said Senator Bouton, it was his pleasure to attend the convention of Republicans in Ulster county. Although known to a few people he had been given the commendation for designation for mayor, which had been ratified at a primary and on election day, and a year ago a similar recommendation had been again ratified. On the first occasion his majority had been about 9,000 and two years ago nearly double that. He could not be insensible to such honor, but he brought the nomination back much to his regret certain circumstances had arisen in his business to compel him to decline renomination.

He appreciated the loyal support of the voters of the district if he had information or advice, but on both occasions he had made certain pledges and if he had then short it was not due to lack of devotion of heart but simply because matters had been beyond his control. When circumstances arose directly in his business affairs that required his entire attention, he had considered the Republican leaders of the three counties who insisted he take a renomination, and nobody would feel insensible to this honor also. There was an old saying that "if politics interfere with business, cut out business," but this could not be done. He would give heartiest support to whoever was named and would always bear in mind what Ulster county had done for him.

Republicans are entering a campaign in which much is at stake. In the nation Republicans have paid five billion dollars on the national debt and have made three reductions in taxes. However much opposition may exist to President Coolidge and however he may be criticised, a majority of the people believe in his policy of economy in government. Such economy is not only the business of the country at large but of every taxpayer and rent payer. President Coolidge has a great Cabinet, and just as he needs strong men there he needs strong men in the Senate to support his policies.

The United States Senate presents a close situation and election may upset the Coolidge policies of economy. Senator Wadsworth, who will come up for re-election, has shown himself to be a man of good judgment and experience and it would be a calamity to the state and nation if he should be defeated, and if any voter in Ulster county who believes in those policies is thinking of not voting for him, he should first follow the advice displayed at all railroad crossings: "Stop, look, listen."

So also in Congress, the President needs men who will give his support, and the record of Congressman Pratt has been shown to be most creditable to himself, to the district and the state.

Coming to the state campaign, the greatest handicap was the feeling among some Republicans that Governor Smith could not be beaten. "Faint heart never won fair lady," if Republicans only will enter the campaign in the firm belief that Smith will be beaten, his defeat is certain.

One of the healthiest signs is the fact that nobody knows who will be nominated by the Republicans. In view of that fact and the four years' record of Smith, Republicans should already be getting ready to go forth to fight to win the governorship for the Republican nominee.

While at Washington the Republican administration had been decreasing the cost of government, the state of New York has been increasing not only all expenditures but also the bonded debt by hundreds of millions of dollars. At Albany he had heard that it was Governor Smith who took care of the poor people, but the governor's proposal to cut taxes would have relieved only the rich.

Senator Bouton said he had proposed to eliminate many taxpayers by making state exemptions correspond to federal exemptions under the income tax law, which seemed a matter of simple justice. Governor Smith was opposed to the plan, but it had passed the Republican senate. Then it went to the assembly, where Assemblyman Millard Davis had rendered valiant aid and announced that there must also be a reduction in the direct state tax. As Governor Smith had the power of veto, the tax question had been settled by passing the Smith reduction bill and the two Republican tax reductions.

In conclusion, Senator Bouton pledged hearty support to the entire Republican ticket, including his successor. Twice he had left the convention hall as a candidate, but now he left it as a private citizen and co-worker pledged to the support of Republican policies.

Politics never could be shaken off by a man who was once in active politics, he said, and although business would come first, politics with him always remain a side line. The condition was best expressed by a poem with which he concluded his speech. The poem was entitled "Tobacco" and was as follows:

Tobacco is a noxious weed—
I like it.
It satisfies no moral need—
I like it.
It makes you fat.
It makes you lean.
It takes your hair right off the bean.
It's the worst blame stuff I've ever seen—
I like it.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 7, 1926.

Prof. C. E. Griffin of the University of Michigan announces that there will be 27,000,000 automobiles in use in this country by 1930. Probably most pedestrians—if anybody is still trying to take walks—are under the impression that more than that number are in use now.

Our exported movies give an undesirable one-sided view of American life, but plainly the foreign appetite for them is increasingly keen. There is late news, for example, that 500 enthusiastic Polish girls stormed the hotel in Warsaw where "Doug and Mary" were staying.

"Thanks to the League of Nations, Austrians now enjoy a currency sound enough to enable them to indulge in a cheap trip to the land of the depreciated franc"—Springfield Republican. And, by the way, might not the League do something for France? Or is France still too honorably proud to permit itself to go into receiver's hands?

Dr. Richard G. Peabody of Boston offers another interpretation of French feeling—which may be as pointed as most of the others—as follows: "France feels that America would not be so insistent on collecting the war debt if the United States was still receiving its pre-war revenues from liquor taxes. Besides, she feels that she has been deprived of a large and just source of revenue through the same act, which cut off the American market for her wines."

The report comes that Col. Carmi Thompson, the President's inquiring agent in the Philippines, is chiefly interested in industrial development, particularly rubber planting, and as for mention of the political status of the islands he "avoids it like the plague." The news also indicates that in the view of the Philippines discussion of their country without mention of independence is somewhat like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet himself left out.

Recently in Canton, Ohio, where political bosses are suspected of being in league with the criminal element, a free spoken editor was assassinated and the citizens generally warned to "keep silent and live longer." Now ex-Governor Cox, the owner of that Canton newspaper and several others, says in the New York Times: "I don't know whether the average citizen realizes the menace to the country from organized crime. It laughs at organized society because society is dependent upon the instrumentalities of government for its protection. There is so much of inefficiency and corruption that criminals can afford to take the desperate chances which they do." From all accounts this is a sufficiently correct view of conditions, but the greater need is enlightened information as to what is to be done about it—for constructive effort to provide a real remedy.

REAL PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

That the agitation for public ownership of various utilities is based on ignorance and incompetence, an appeal to the shiftless and thriftless, cannot be successfully disputed. We now have public ownership by that portion of the public that is self-supporting, saving, sane and industrious. This kind of public ownership has grown rapidly but so quietly that its extent is not generally realized. Recently a detailed analysis was made of the personality of the buyers of stock in a public utility corporation in the eastern part of the United States. It was found that 57 trades or occupations were each represented by more than 10 subscribers and that included in the list were:

104 accountants, 123 actors, 21 artists, 184 barbers, 53 beauty culturists, 65 bricklayers, 45 brewers and brokers, 116 butchers, 462 carpenters, 601 chauffeurs, 2,947 clerks, 55 clergymen, 622 domestic, 43 dentists, 145 draftsmen, 372 dressmakers, 144 doctors, 562 electricians, 553 engineers, 1,054 factory workers, 518 farmers, 4,023 housewives, 116 lawyers, 499 laborers, 27 lawyers, 45 laundry workers, 499 machinists, 187 metal workers, 118 mail carriers, 434 managers, 123 manufacturers, 224 merchants, 124 mechanics, 91 musicians, 274 nurses, 342 painters, 41 plumbers, 257 printers, 347 physicians, 225 printers, 312 railroad men, 51 seamstresses, 214 secretaries.

This form of ownership, by the thrifty part of the public, makes for honesty and public spirit on the part of the corporation as well as for sanity and wise conservation on the part of that portion of the public that is saving and investing. No amount of excitement by vicious demagogues or extravagant or lazy persons is likely to move a man to destroy his own property or to vote to turn it over to the state in order that jobs may be created for the lazy, rates lowered to everybody and the losses made up by state taxation of those who work and save.

THOUGHTS ON HAY FEVER.

As the hay fever season comes on during the time that the grasses give off their pollen, some interesting figures have been collected by research men.

The amount of time lost from doing real efficient work, and the misery and pain of this annual visitor, cannot be estimated.

Two Chicago scientists have made a study of hay fever in Chicago, and the amount of pollen that is flying in the air during the hay fever season. They tell us that nearly forty percent of the total area of Chicago is covered with weeds which lie along the banks of the canals, rivers, railway tracks, and vacant lots. Some of these weeds are six feet in height.

They found nearly twenty varieties of weeds giving off pollen, and collected specimens by using glass slides covered with oil.

In Chicago there are 40,000 acres within the city limits producing Nature's own selection of weeds. Now as one acre can produce 60 pounds of pollen you can see that nearly two and a half million pounds of pollen float about Chicago during the season.

Just why these pollens are so irritating to some individuals and not to others is hard to understand. It has been said that it was only the nervous, high strung, educated folks, that were victims of hay fever, but some one points out that it is because these people have never lived in the country and thus got vaccinated, as it were, against hay fever, as do farmers. Also because they are usually of the desk or office type, and do not get enough exercise.

You are of course familiar with the symptoms. There is usually the eye irritation from a simple itching and redness, to the severe swollen appearance so often noted.

The nose suffers in the same way. The itching is so severe that the patient sneezes and sneezes until almost completely exhausted. The lining of the nose may become so swollen that breathing is impossible and mouth breathing becomes necessary.

The throat is often affected in the same manner thus adding to the misery of the victim.

Naturally there is great depression.

And the treatment.

Have your doctor try you out with the skin reaction to the different grasses. The regular hay fever season is from April to October usually. Severe rains carrying the pollen to the ground often help the sufferer.

Some of the proprietary treatments especially those containing adrenalin seem to ease the condition somewhat.

However getting away from the pollen, and not eating too many proteins—meats, eggs, and cereals will give relief also.

Settlers Disguised as Indians in Anti-Rent War Fight Sheriff's Posses, August 7, 1845.

The Hardenburgh Patent, embracing ten miles square, lying south of the east branch of the Delaware River, in Delaware county, was granted April 10, 1708, to Johannes Hardenburgh, of Kingston, Ulster county, and associates who had previously purchased the land of the Indians.

Under their grant the proprietors of the Hardenburgh Patent claimed all of the land between the branches of the Delaware and leased it to actual settlers.

In 1844 the settlers who had previously paid annual rents refused longer to submit to what they believed to be a wrong and fraud, and they called for legislative and judicial aid. In the meantime the lessors prosecuted them for rent.

In 1845 associations were formed to prevent the collection of rent, and when the sheriff attempted to make a levy, or to sell property for rent, men disguised as Indians appeared to prevent the sale, determined thus to stay proceedings until the question of title should be legally settled.

An act was passed January 25, forbidding persons from appearing disguised and armed, under a penalty of imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding six months. Persons thus armed and disguised might be prosecuted under the fictitious names they assumed, if their real names could not be discovered. Such persons assembling in public houses or other places to the number of three or more might, upon conviction, be imprisoned one year. There was further punishment if convicted for a conspiracy or riot, in which offense they carried deadly weapons.

In a few cases these laws were disregarded, but not so in Delaware county, where several arrests were made and the county declared in a state of rebellion.

On August 7, 1847, Sheriff Moore, accompanied by P. P. Wright, went to the town of Andes to sell the property of Moses Earl upon execution for rent. There they found 175 men armed and disguised as Indians, who told him to do his duty, and they would protect him. "But," said they, "let bidders beware." The sheriff and the "Indians" drove the cattle near the road, the latter forming a semicircle about the property.

At this crisis Deputy Sheriff Osmun N. Steele and R. Edgerton, whom Sheriff Moore had requested not to come to this sale, appeared on horseback, jumped their horses over the fence, were joined by Wright, and dashed into the midst of the "Indians," flourishing their revolvers and firing several shots in the air.

The "Indians" gave ground; but the chief ordered them to shoot the horses, and almost immediately a volley was fired killing the horses of Steele and Edgerton and mortally wounding Steele, who survived but a few hours.

The governor, on August 22, issued a proclamation declaring the county to be in a state of insurrection, and placing it under martial law. A battalion of 300 militia, one half of whom were mounted, were marched to the scene and placed at the disposal of the local officers.

Two companies of volunteers under Benjamin T. Cook and John R. Baldwin were formed and organized into a battalion under Major Thomas Marvine. A company of light infantry from Unadilla, under Captain Bolles, also served part of the time in this battalion.

About ninety persons were indicated for murder, and more than thirty arrested. Two of them, O'Connor and Van Steenburgh, were convicted and sentenced to be executed, but their punishment was commuted to State prison for life by Governor Silas Wright, and they were afterwards fully pardoned by Governor John Young.

The county remained under martial law until December 12. The expense of this military service, amounting to more than sixty thousand dollars, was charged to the county, but has never been paid.

The mounted men were actively employed the first two or three months in small detachments, aiding the civil authorities in making arrests, and in patrolling day and night such districts as the exigency of the service required. The residue was employed in guarding the jail at Delhi, and as foot patrols. On two occasions Sheriff Moore to the State prison with prisoners.

The murder of Steele led to the speedy abandonment of secret organizations and Indian costume, and brought to a positive end the "Anti-Rent War."

Improvement in Farm Income

Statistics show slight improvement in agricultural income—farmers still at disadvantage compared to industrial workers.

Income from farm production the past season, 1925-26, again showed a moderate improvement, but farmers as a class are still at a financial disadvantage to industrial workers, according to an analysis of receipts and expenditures just completed by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Gross income from agriculture is estimated at $14,415,000,000 for the year, compared with $12,003,000,000 for 1924-25, an increase of about 20 per cent, the increase appearing in both cash income from sales and in the value of products consumed by farm families. Increased income from potatoes, dairy products, and meat animals more than offset declines in income from grains and cotton, the department says.

The total gross income is made up of $9,891,000,000 computed as cash income from sales, and $2,524,000,000, the value of food and fuel consumed on farms. It includes $3,777,000,000 for dairy and poultry products; $2,746,000,000 for meat animals; $1,682,000,000 for cotton and cotton seed; $1,625,000,000 for fruits and vegetables, and $1,565,000,000 for grains.

Receipts increased somewhat more than expenses, yielding an increase in net income available for all capital employed including reward for managing the industry, of 4 per cent, compared with a 15 per cent increase in 1924-25. This larger net income represents a rate of return for all capital and management of 4.6 per cent with 4.4 per cent the preceding year. These rates are not comparable with rates of return usually shown for other industries. Estimates of comparable returns for corporations in 1925 gave 11 per cent as the return on capital and management compared with 3.3 per cent for agriculture.

Out of the gross income of $14,415,000,000 farmers paid $6,812,000,000 including $1,216,000,000 wages to hired labor; $3,076,000,000 for products and services of other industries, repairs and maintenance of buildings and equipment; $636,000,000 taxes on operator-owned investment; $1,127,000,000 rent on property rented from non-operators, and $758,000,000 interest on mortgage and other indebtedness held by non-operators.

The difference is $5,503,000,000, of which $2,524,000,000 represents the value of food and fuel consumed on farms, and $3,079,000,000 is the net cash income, which gives an average per farm of $879 compared with $854 in 1924-25 for operators' capital, labor, and management.

The analysis shows further that the farm operators earned on their own net investment including management, after paying rent and interest on debts, 3.5 per cent, compared with 3.2 per cent in 1924-25. These rates are considerably less than the rates earned by the other owners of farm capital such as mortgage holders.

If a conservative interest return is allowed on investment, the average farm family earned $648 for labor and management, or $24 more than in the preceding year. Although this figure is considerably above the very meager earnings during the severe years of the depression, it is still nearly 30 per cent below the earnings of 1919-20.

Factory wage earners, on the other hand, the department point out, for the past three years have earned approximately the same money income as they did in 1919-20 and have been able to buy with those earnings about 16 per cent more than they could in 1919-20, while the farmer with his income has been able to buy about 20 per cent less.

PONTIAC SIX

CHIEF OF THE SIXES

The Pontiac Six is scoring the most spectacular first year success ever recorded in automotive history—because it meets the driving conditions of today like no other car in the world at its price.

Without an excess ounce of bulk—without an unnecessary inch in length, it is ideally suited to the congested highways of today. Having the largest engine of any six costing less than $1,000, it flashes swiftly through congested traffic; and so sturdily is it constructed that it can be held at top speed for as many continuous hours as the driver likes.

Yet despite its highly desirable external compactness, the Pontiac Six is a supremely comfortable car. Step into the Pontiac Six Sedan. Note its roominess. Mark well the wide, inviting seats and ample leg room.

Then remember, that with all its luxurious provisions for comfort, the Pontiac Six turns in a 38 foot circle—and that it can be quickly and easily parked in places too small for other cars of equal passenger capacity.

RAISE REWARD TO $500 FOR ESCAPED LEOPARD

Red Bank, N. J., Aug. 7.—Nearly a hundred men, armed with high-powered rifles and ordered to shoot without hesitation, were still combing the New Jersey countryside today for a vicious leopard, the escape of which has terrified the district since Thursday. So vital has become the need of its capture or death that the reward has been raised from $100 to $500 by the Twin Brook Zoo at Middletown, from which it escaped.

Question.—When a frame building burns down, what is left? Answer.—The chimney alone, because it is built of brick. Chimneys are built of brick because they are fireproof. Why not construct the whole building of brick, that is Real Fire Prevention. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. When you build, use brick exclusively. There may be a slight increase in first cost, but always a large saving in maintenance. Building brick and sand. TERRY BROTHERS CO. Tel. 1674.

Before the Day of Forks

The comments of Mr. Justice McCord upon the "social affection" of the two forks to manipulate seem to the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian to have been based upon historical knowledge. Forks were not introduced into England until 1808, and it is a notable fact that whilst we get Knifemith and Spooner amongst our occupational surnames we find no Forker or Forksmith. Even the "Carver" had to use his fingers. In the "Boke of Kervynge" we find it set down, "Sei never on fysh, fleshe, beest ne fowl more than two fingers and a thumb." The guest was lucky if he got a plate. Usually he was supplied with a round of bread, known as a trencher, upon which the meat was placed. It will be easy to understand why this was followed by the necessary service of the "Ewer" with a basin of cleansing water, and the "Napier," who proffered the towel or napkin.

Radio Chess in Far East

The first chess contest ever staged by radio in the Far East came to a successful conclusion when Shanghai chess enthusiasts defeated the Manila Chess club. Three players took part at both ends of the air waves and play waxed hot and furious until a misunderstanding over a lowly pawn threatened to break up the game. Rather than sacrifice a chance to win, Shanghai gallantly conceded the pawn and continued with the game, but not until some delay had been occasioned by unravelling Manila's instructions from the static and the greetings and news being exchanged by battleships in the harbor. It was 3 a. m. when the pieces were put away and Shanghai had won.

No Precise Definition

The "dark of the moon" is that part of the lunar month when the moon is not visible. It may be considered as covering a period of approximately four days, two days before and two days after the time of the new moon. The rest of the lunar month may be called the "light of the moon." These are popular expressions and are not susceptible of precise definition.

Evaporated Milk Rich

Milk normally contains 37 per cent water and 13 per cent solids. In evaporated milk, however, the water content is much less, since in the process of evaporation 90 per cent of the water in the milk is removed. This makes evaporated milk more than twice as rich as bottled milk.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 7.—The motor stocks and specialties were ready to resume their forward movement in the short session of the market today.

The motor stocks received the most attention, though New York Central, Atchison and other high-grade rails were well bought at peak prices.

Another aggressive rally was staged in General Motors. In the course of which the stock moved up 5 points to above 212 in the first hour. United States Steel gained more than a point as heavy buying orders flowed into that stock. Independent steel shares and copper stocks continued to attract good buying at slightly higher prices.

A strong demand developed for the stocks of the amusement and theatrical companies as a result of the enthusiastic comments on the successful first showing of the vitaphone on Broadway. Warner Brothers Pictures Class A jumped 1/2 point to 28 1/2 while Famous Players, Pathe, Fox Class A and Shubert sold up about a point on the average.

The balance of the market was quiet and featureless. New York Central and Atchison repeated yesterday's performance by reaching new high record prices for all time, the former above 188 and the latter above 142.

Oil stocks were steady though inactive. Mercantile stocks and tobacco stocks carried their late rallies to slightly higher prices.

Quotations given by C. D. Halsey & Co., 27 William street, New York city, branch office, Warren Building, 260-62 Fair street, Kingston, N. Y.

Rough Riders at County Picnic

State Troopers Will Again Pull Off Thrilling Riding Acts at Farm and Home Bureau-Chamber of Commerce Picnic August 18.

The State Trooper Rough Riding Troop will again perform at the Farm and Home Bureau-Chamber of Commerce picnic on August 18. A telegram recently received by H. M. Eppes, general chairman of the picnic committee, from Captain Fox of the New York State Troopers assures the appearance of the Rough Riding Troop for the picnic.

Utter county likes to have the state constabulary within its bounds and the troopers like to be there whenever it is possible. The troopers are real riders for the large number of picnickers that gathered in Forsyth Park last year enjoyed the antics of both men and horses and only favorable criticism resounded from the spectators. Many of the same men that performed last year will come to Kingston again and exhibit their collection of thrilling stunts.

Kingston citizens need not be reminded that it was Major George F. Chandler that was chiefly responsible for the organization of the Troopers and when they review the record of these law enforcers will not hesitate to congratulate him for the efforts he put forth. The whole area patrolled by these minions of the law contains people that appreciate their services and they may be sure to receive cheering cheers from the crowd that will be at the picnic on August 18. The State Troopers will be in the parade that will be held in the morning.
